IS YOUR ACCESS CONTROL SYSTEM A GATEWAY FOR HACKERS?

With access control systems being prime entry points to hacking IT and OT systems, security professionals need to stress protecting security systems.

President, Farpointe Data

As seen in Security Magazine

Contactless card-based access control systems were developed to better and more easily protect facilities from unauthorized visitors. Of course, then, the bad guys figured out how to capture and use card-based information to fool the system and let the unauthorized in by using skimming, eavesdropping or relay attacks.

Farpointe Partner, Cypress, Launches a Wireless Mobile Reader

A new wireless mobile reader (WMR), making use of Farpointe Data reader modules, is now available from Cypress Integrated Solutions. The handheld unit combines expertise from both companies, including proven RFID reader and powerful supervised wireless extender technologies, into a single integrated platform, and allows for simplified credential verification in applications where fixed readers may not be suitable.
